

PANAC Loves PHILLY in 2016

By Ernestine Nunes, RN

California nurses head to Philadelphia April 10-14 for ASPAN's 35th National Conference (NC) at the Marriott Downtown, just a 15 minute walk to Independence Hall, the Liberty Bell, and historic sites. The City of Brotherly Love is home to the Philly cheese steak, hoagies, and of course, Rocky Balboa.

Seeing over a thousand nurses (sans scrubs) from 50 states and abroad, networking and carrying the same NC tote bag is inspiring. This year's call to Renew Perianesthesia Passion and Inspire Excellence certainly delivers. From the opening address, Inspired Nurse, to the closing Nurse Hero, the educational sessions are packed with promise and punch.

For an early glimpse of Philadelphia, sign up for Sunday morning's Dream Walk supporting the ASPAN Foundation. Later, sit in the Gallery at the Representative Assembly to see ASPAN leaders (nurses like us) discuss and vote on issues from elections to new patient safety standards and guidelines.

Component Night's, WE LOVE PHILLY—PHILLY WILL LOVE YOU BACK, gets the conference rocking and rolling to a disc jockey (who remembers 45 rpms?). Wear your poodle skirt, leather jacket, or blue suede shoes, and relive Dick Clark's American Bandstand. Get in the groove with a Ben Franklin photo-op, Component raffles, and fall in love with Philly foods.

To tour the sights, take advantage of two-hour lunch breaks and public transportation or the Philly PHLASH from the Marriott, $2 a ride or $5 for all-day pass. The Philly PHLASH runs every 15 minutes with on and off stops from Penn's landing (Riverfront), Independence Square, Betsy Ross' house, and Old Christ Church to the Philadelphia Museum of Art and Rocky's famous steps for a selfie.

With educational sessions, the Dream Walk, CPAN/CAPA Luncheon, Exhibits, Specialty Practice Group (SPG) and Regional Meetings, the President's Reception, and Closing Breakfast, the days pass quickly. An extra day for sightseeing is a plus but even without it, the convenient location and transportation allow you to experience the Passion and Love Philly.

Ronda's Remarks

Ronda Dyer, BSPA, RN, CPAN, CAPA

Stepping Up and Stepping Out

Have you ever been told you are a good teacher? Do you enjoy sharing new information, your knowledge, or helping your co-workers learn new techniques? Do you have a passion to see perianesthesia nurses implement best-practice? Your talents and skills could benefit more than just your patients and unit colleagues.

In February, I had the honor to speak to over 190 perianesthesia nurses at the PANAC Winter Seminar in Ventura. A nurse just like you, I was nervous, unsure, and anxious. Though I have given in-services in my hospital and for my local PANAC Chapter, this audience included acclaimed speakers and experienced perianesthesia nurses. I had stepped up months before, made myself available, and offered to speak. Despite the nerves, I did it! Afterward, I felt a great sense of accomplishment when attendees expressed their appreciation.

I encourage you to step out of your comfort zone, use your talents and share your knowledge. You too can write an article or offer to present information to your perianesthesia nurse colleagues at a Chapter, District, or Component seminar.

If you are interested in assisting with planning seminars, or have a topic you can present at a seminar, go to www.panac.org to connect with your District Director or PANAC's Education Chair, Kevin MacVane at kevinm@panac.org.

If you are interested in writing or editing an issue of Pulseline, please contact me at rondad@panac.org. I'd like to hear your story.

Take a few moments to talk with a coworker about the benefits of ASPAN/PANAC membership; share your story with a new nurse or student and invite them to a local meeting or to a state or national conference. I encourage each of you to take any opportunity to share your passion for your profession.

I look forward to seeing you in Philadelphia at the April ASPAN National Conference. Join me Sunday, April 10 at 6:30 a.m. for the 21st Annual Dream Walk, a 3.5 mile route from the Marriott to the iconic "Rocky" stairs of the Philadelphia Art Museum. It is a fun fund-raiser for ASPAN scholarships. Meet other California attendees at PANAC's "Get-together," Tuesday, April 12. Details will be posted in the daily conference newsletter, The PartiCULARs.

ASPAN Region 1 Director's Update—A New Year: Anticipation and Reflection

By Regina Hoefner-Notz MS, RN, CPAN, CPN
ASPAN Region 1 Director

It's that time of year again! It's ASPAN National Conference time! It's a time full of educational opportunities and special moments as we learn more about our organization and our practice. It is the end and the beginning of a new ASPAN year.

All in a Year's Work

Throughout the year, ASPAN President Armi Holcomb has tirelessly represented and promoted our organization at professional events. These occasions give ASPAN a voice to share ideas and patient care concerns with colleagues across multiple disciplines. I am proud that the power behind our organization is a dedicated bedside nurse, intimately aware of the issues that each of us deal with every day.

Armi traveled to many component events to engage members personally. She collaborated with the National Office on managing ASPAN and to create a feasible budget. Armi worked with various committees, strategic work teams, and task forces to complete many ongoing projects.

The Standards and Guidelines Strategic Work Team (SWT) met to review, revise, and update our practice standards. New ASPAN speakers are training to present fresh content for ASPAN webcasts and webinars.

The Redi-Ref was revised and the brand new Pediatric Competency Based Orientation Manual was just published.

Armi met with the 2016 National Conference SWT and SWT Coordinator on the educational tracks and with the ASPAN staff to complete the program and brochure. I am looking forward to hearing Elizabeth Card, ASPAN Director of Research, present her Burn Out study as well as Drs. Stannard and Ross presenting their FaST study at National Conference—examples of ASPAN's support of nursing research.

Leading Forward with Vision

One of my most exciting accomplishments this year was at the November Mid-Year Board meeting; working with the Board to review and create a new ASPAN long-range strategic plan. Led by President Holcomb, ASPAN CEO Kevin Dill, and planning consultant Bud Crouch, we renewed our passion for nursing excellence and created a forward looking direction to sustain ASPAN over the next several years. It will be exhilarating hearing Armi share this vision at National Conference.

Region 1 in Philly

I hope to see many of you at National Conference in Philadelphia. Region 1 is such a large territory to cover, but our dedication to excellent perianesthesia nursing is our common denominator. In the Conference Directory, look for our Region 1 meeting time and come so I can hear about your accomplishments, your challenges, and your frustrations. Together, we can support each other, have a few laughs, and plan how to stay connected in the coming year. We are passion in action!

California Celebrates PANAW

By Helen C Fong, MSN, RN, PHN

From San Diego to Northern California, perianesthesia nurses celebrated their special week with cakes, cookies, sumptuous meals, and especially, recognition and appreciation for the nursing care they provide. PeriAnesthesia Nurse Awareness Week (PANAW) was celebrated February 1-7.

Members shared highlights of their PANAW celebrations:

- Visalia Chapter Coordinator Ernie Nunes delivered beautifully decorated cookie trays and PANAC greeting cards to area perianesthesia departments, including her RN CAPA daughter, Susie Nunes, in Preop Cardiac Admitting at Kaweah Delta.
- Porterville's Sierra View District Hospital Surgery Director Carrie Carrillo started the week off with a special PeriAnesthesia Nurse T-shirt for staff and each day held a special event. The anesthesiologists capped off the festivities with box lunches for the staff on Friday.
- In the Fresno Chapter, District 5 Director Kathy Nichols delivered cookies to perianesthesia units to help them celebrate PANAW.

PANAC member Susie Nunes helping her mom.

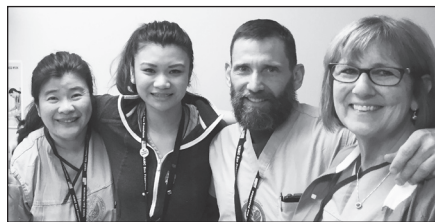

Rady Hospital nurses celebrate PANAW with a beautifully decorated cake.

- Arrowhead Regional Medical Center in Colton celebrated with a BBQ lunch for the staff, courtesy of Director Nancy Hungarland and Manager Holly Edison.
- Rady Children's Hospital provided sumptuous meals and culminated the week with the OR Staff giving the PACU staff beautifully wrapped Kit Kats and a gigantic signed card. Chief Nurse Executive, Mary Fagan took time to visit the department and round with nurses. Many expressed their gratitude and satisfaction working in the perianesthesia specialty.

- Doctors Medical Center, Modesto, celebrated daily for the week with treats brought in by the PACU nurses and their Department Manager. Surgeons, anesthesiologists and residents were all quite interested in what the celebration was all about.
- Hanford had a celebration they will never forget. The week began with OR Staff and anesthesiologists treating the perianesthesia staff to lunch, desserts or treats each day, but was dampened with a water line break that flooded the department causing them to shut down for several days!
- Veterans Administration Medical Center, San Francisco, had a variety of savory and sweet treats for the nurses who continued to labor in love. The Chief of Perioperative Services provided a Chinese meal and recognized PANAW in the medical center bulletin.

San Francisco Veterans Administration PACU nurses Gloria Luu, Catherine Pangan, Michael Vespaziano, and Morna Franklin celebrate

- Kaiser Permanente Sacramento Medical Center celebrated with a daily array of delicious meals, special cake, and desserts. Sandy Sharon, Area Manager / Senior Vice-President and Earl Laih, Director of Perioperative Services, visited the department to share in the celebrations and each staff member received a special bag or tumbler.

We hope you had the opportunity to highlight your specialty during PANAW. Remember to watch for information about next year's event in Pulseline and plan to make it great.

200 Get to the Heart of the Matter in Ventura

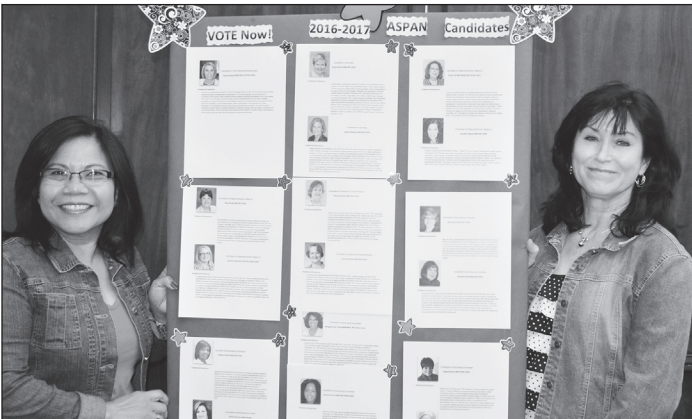

The longest CAPA certified attendees, Chuck Sickler, Roberta Bailey, and Pam Sisco receive recognition prizes from PANAC President Lori Silva, along with Patricia Johnson, and Patricia Stowers.

Education Chair-elect Angie Weathersby and Education Chair Kevin McVane put together an amazing Winter Seminar in Ventura.

On a break, Rasmin Day and Cherie Sloan enjoy coffee and networking.

Linda Sparks and Teresa Dalton hosted the voting booth where candidate bios were posted and computers were available for members to cast their on-line ballots.

Promotions Chair Gina Dias with Kathy Nichols, and Sharon Boyles raised over $500 for scholarships through the sale of promotional items, raffle tickets and silent auction items.

Melinda Krach, Deb Bickford, Anne Vitale, and Marie Butcher received prizes as the longest-standing CPAN holders present.

Michelle Kane wins bid on silent auction prize to support PANAC scholarships.

Paravertebral Blocks: Improving Outcomes and Reducing Pain in the Video Assisted Thoracotomy Patient

By Linda Minnich, BSN, RN, CPAN and Myra Torres MSN, RN, PCCN

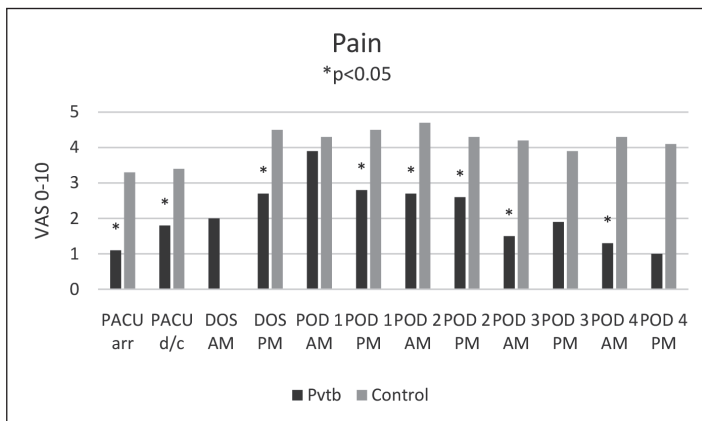

Introduction

Patients undergoing a video assisted thoracotomy surgery (VATS) with a wedge resection have pain from the surgical port sites, chest tubes, due to pleural and diaphragmatic irritation, shoulder pain due to ligament strain and phrenic nerve irritation from surgical positioning with the arm supported over the head,¹ and finally, disruption of the chest wall.² Traditional pain therapy includes epidural,³ patient controlled analgesia (PCA), and systemic opioids; all have a risk of respiratory depression, nausea, vomiting, itching, and hypotension. Would the introduction of a paravertebral block (PVT) as an alternative to traditional pain therapy decrease pain and have an opioid sparing effect?

Study Design and Sample

The study design was a retrospective data collection comparing 20 patients undergoing a VATS with a wedge resection. Pain scores were obtained every 12 hours, 24 hour opioid totals, length of stay, and removal of the Foley catheter. The control group had a PCA, epidural or systemic opioids compared to the PVT with a PCA group. Patients were randomly selected from one surgeon's patient population for both groups for 4 days.

FDA Approves Bridion

By Ronda Dyer, BSPA, RN, CPAN, CAPA

A news release from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration on December 15, 2015 announced the approval of a new class of neuromuscular blocking drug, Bridion (sugammadex).¹ Unlike traditional reversal agents, Bridion binds rocuronium and vecuronium providing termination of neuromuscular blockade (NMB), usually within three minutes.²

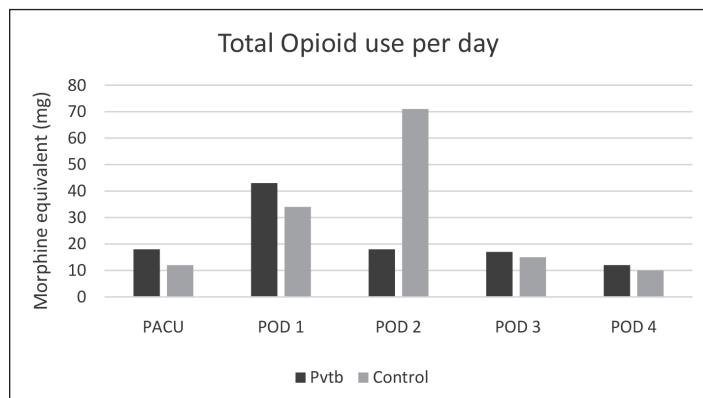

In an AANA Journal article, researchers concluded that "without a doubt, reversal of NMB is faster and more complete with sugammadex compared with cholinesterase inhibitors."² As with traditional reversal agents, bradycardia and hypotension may be treated with anticholinergic agents. Other adverse reactions include hypersensitivity, nausea, vomiting, headache, and pain.¹

Opioid Usage

Length of Stay

Days to Remove the Foley Catheter

Limitations

The sample size is small (n=20) and some of the charts were unusable – due to a greater than 40% missing data field were incomplete.

Conclusion

Paravertebral blocks have shown a decrease in pain scores, opioid usage, length of stay, and early Foley removal as compared to the Patient Controlled Analgesia or Epidural group.

ANA Calls Nurses to Action

By Ernestine Nunes, RN

The American Nurses Association (ANA) urges nurses to give a voice to pending legislation that affects nursing practice and patient safety. The ANA website (www.ana.org) features a wide range of tabs worth exploring from ANA position statements, Practice issues, Policy and Advocacy, to Ethics and Educational Webinars.

Under Policy and Advocacy, the drop-down Take Action posts legislative Alerts to "alert" nurses to urgent legislation requiring a response. Choose an issue then click a key and the legislation is explained; click another and you can share your story; a final click and you can immediately Take Action, connecting to a fill in boxes page to contact your Senator or Representative. Your voice will be heard and together nurses make a difference.

Legislative Alerts listed in March 2016 include: Safe staffing, Safe patient handling and mobility, Home Health, Nurse Workforce Development, APRNs and DME, APRNs and Veterans, Nursing Home Staffing.

In Nurse Workforce Development, ANA urges Congress to make nursing education a priority funding in President Obama's Fiscal Year (FY) 2016 budget (under Title VIII of the Public Health Service Act) through FY 2020 to insure funding "education, recruitment, and retention of qualified nurses to meet our nation's health care demands."
